

American Health Data Institute

AHDI Patent: Optimizing Healthcare Services Consumption

AHDI was granted a Patent in 2010 (retroactive to 2002 filing date), and additional Patents in 2011 and 2013.

The Patent protects our process of assessing and targeting interventions based on the risk of the population by:

- Identifying the members likely to be of highest risk generally most expensive claims
- Whether those high risk members are meeting standard of care requirements
- Identifying high quality, cost effective providers
- Providing the necessary interventions to improve the healthcare consumption characteristics of the members

